the FBI of that matter and the answer. She was told that if she believed it necessary to assume such a position, that in itself would not indicate to the interviewing Agents that she was being uncooperative.

It was brought to the attention of that the investigation being conducted may possibly involve violations of Federal Statutes over which Congress had provided jurisdiction to the FBI and specifically, these matters may relate to such violations as Perjury, Obstruction of Justice, Destruction of Government Property and/or the furnishing of false information relating to an official investigation.

She was also told that she may be called to be interviewed by other investigative agencies or committees or SPO and that the FBI might not know if those conditions were to prevail. She was told, however, that in the event it was necessary for the FBI to see her on some future occasion, the request would be made through the office of of the White House Legal Staff.

inquired as to whether or not it would be permissible for her to take notes of the interview. She was advised that there was no objection to such a procedure. She said she is aware of the fact on return to the White House that she would be asked to fill out some type of a form relating to the interview and would like to have some notes of her own. In this regard it was again pointed out to that the distribution of the results of the FBI investigation would be made only to the SPO, but that since she was making notes, any questions asked of her or answers which she may have provided would be available also to the White House, at least as to her recorded report of the interview. She stated that she did not take shorthand, but would make a few notes.

In response to specific questions relating to her personal observation of any reel-type tapes which have been the product of recorded messages from telephones or microphones installed in rooms at either the White House or the Executive Office Building which are presently a matter of issue before the United States District Court or her knowledge as to the existence or use of any other such tapes, provided the following information:

Her first knowledge that there was such a system within the White House was when she read about it in the news media. She has no knowledge other than what she has read about or has seen or heard on the news media. She has never handled any of the tapes. MPO 74-290 has discussed with land other senior White House Staff the fact that L had reviewed White House tapes in July, 1973. termed his reaction review of those tapes as somewhat severe as he felt action was contradictory to the President's position at that time. However, L stated he made no direct recommendation to the effect that be prohibited from reviewing other White House tapes. recalled: participation in White House Staff meetings relative to the White House tapes in which consideration was given to the discontinuance of the White House tape recording system; and to the transfer of those recorded White House tapes to the direct control of the President. Thus, after testimony may have recommended to either General HAIG or to the President that the White House discontinue its taping system. On July 18, 1973, those White House tape recordings in the custody of the USSS were inwentoried and transferred to the custody of the President. _____ recalled that sometime prior to that transfer, SAIC SIME, USSS, recommended to him that the USSS inventory those White House tape recordings in the possession of the USSS. has no recollection of participating in ns on July 18, 1973, at which were present. The interviewing agents noted that on July 17, 1973, the Senate Select Committee on the Watergate requested certain White House tapes. On July 18, 1973, the WSP requested the White House to furnish him with certain White House tape recordings which related to the Watergate investigation.

transfer of the custody of the White House tapes from the USSS to the President did not occur as the result of either the Senate or WSPO request for these tape recordings.

The interviewing agents noted that on or about July 20, 1973, President HIXON announced to the press that the White House taping system would be discontinued. | | At the time the described letters were written, the President's position on release of Presidential papers and documents was well established, that is, they would not be released. When the Senate and the WSP formally requested certain White House tape recordings, the President had already indicated that he would not release the tapes (as the recordings fell within the category of Presidential papers). After receipt of the WSPO and Senate requests, and other members of the White House staff began to attempt to draft the President's official reply to each request in order to again state his position. A number of drafts were prepared by various individuals in each instance. These drafts were reviewed by various members of the staff to insure that each letter adequately represented the President's position. In his position as Special Counsel to the President on Watercate matters, would have reviewed some of the drafts which were prepared on this topic, in order to insure that the President's position was well stated. WFO 74-290 requested the stop watch in order to utilize the stop watch to index the subpoenced tape recordings. felt that a stop watch would provide a more efficient method of locating a specific portion of the tape recording than the footage meter which is present on most tape recorders. based his opinion upon the fact that these footage meters vary in efficiency from machine to machine. In order to prepare their Index and Analysis of the tape recordings, [collected all "source material" available to them which pertained to requests from the Special Prosecutor for subpoensed tapes (to include the various pleadings and arguments of the Special Prosecutor's office before the Court in regard to the subpoensed tapes). They also obtained those documents prepared by during her review of certain White House tape recordings to assist them in their task. After receipt of the produced copies of the subpoensed White House tapes from the White House staff, began to listen to a copy of a subpoensed tape recording which contained a conversation between the President and on June 20, 1972. L recalled that it was a very difficult and arduous task for them to review this tape because the sound on the tape was difficult to comprehend. completed review of that conversation in the early evening of November 14, 1973. After reviewing that conversation, they consulted with the "source material" which they had gathered. From a review of that "source material", ___ decided at that time that the Special Prosecutor's subpoena might also include a conversation between the President and on June 20, 1972. This conversation was contained on the same June 20, 1972 tape. After reaching that conclusion, began to listen to the President's conversation with WFO 74-290 was aware at that time that had "accidentally erased" a portion of the President's conversation with _ and that the erasure had produced a four to five minute gap on the tape. Prom a review of the tane. learned the noted erasure was actually 18 minutes and 15 seconds long rather than 4 or 5 minutes. Prior to that time, had not informed of his knowledge that had "accidentally erased" a portion of the conversation on October 1, 1973. stated that he had not previously informed of his knowledge of erasure, inasmuch as he had not believed the mistake had affected a conversation covered by the Special Prosecutor's office subpoens. stated that his activity following his discovery of the 18 minute and 15 second gap on that tape was thoroughly described in his testimony before Judge SIRICA. At the time of discovery of the 18. minute and 15 second gap, material had been introduced in Court which indicated that had had access to the tape containing the gap. After his discovery of the _ made attempts to identify and/or duplicate the sound present on the gap portion of the tape. stated that from his own research on the situation, he felt that a sufficient amount of circumstartial evidence existed for one to consider as a logical suspect/ responsible for the entire erasure did not interview in regard to the gap inasmuch as he believed that _____ could possibly become a defendant in the case and thus should be made aware of her constitutional rights before her interview. Consequently, interview should be accomplianhed by either the Special Prosecutor or the Court rather whan White House.

furnished Judge SIRICA with a full account of his discovery of the 18 minute and 15 second gap in the noted tape as well as his research and investigation pertaining to that gap during an in camera session of the Court. Representatives of the Special Prosecutor's office and Judge SIRICA were present during that session of the court, which was held in Judge SIRICA's chambers at the United States District Court, WDC. According to a transcript of this in camera session was later read by Attorney for L into the official court record during subsequent hearings held by Judge SIRICA on the subpoenaed tape recordings. recalled that he probably recommended that she get an attorney to represent her dufing her testimony before the count concerning the 18 minute and 15 second "gap tape". However, unaware who officially notified prior to her appearance in court that she should be ready to testify concerning the 18 minute and 15 second gap. own research concerning the "gap tape" had included the performance of tests in office space at the White House. secured permission from rather, than for performance of these tests. According to he listened to an original White House tape recording, covered by the Special Prosecutor's subpoena, during the second series of hearings held before Judge SIRICA on the subpoenaed tapes. On that occasion, and several other individuals listened to the original "gap tape" in order to ascertain if the gap was in fact present on the original tape. Prior to that time, the White House had utilized only the loroduced copy of the tape during their activity after discovery of the gap. Consequently, they desired to insure the gap

This informal contact has often given prior knowledge of formal requests made by either organization for White House documents and/or tapes. did not recall that he had specific knowledge of those conversations which would be requested in the noted subpoena prior to receipt of that subpoena. However, it is possible that he may have had knowledge of the material requested by the WSPO as the result of informal contacts with the WSPO prior to issuance of the subpoena. At some point in time after the subpoena was received, read its contents. The subpoena requested the White House to provide the WSPO with tape recordings of certain conversations of the President. Among these conversations were conversations which occurred between the President and had done a good deal of work researching the nature and substance of conversations with the President prior to the White House's receipt of the described work had also given him a degree of subpoena. familiarity with the general substance of those other convers: tions requested by the WSPO. At the time the described subpoena was received, and his staff were concerned primarily with efforts to research and prepare for that litigation which might erise concerning the White House tapes. As the President had indicated his position at that time, that is, that he would not release the White House tapes, his staff were able to foresee areas in which litigation might occur. attempted to locate or identify the specific conversations described in the subpoena; or to determine the exact substance of each conversation covered by the subpoena at that time. He again noted that he was generally familiar with the identity of the material requested by the WSP at that time. The interviewing agents noted that had testified before Judge JOHN J. SIRICA in USDC, WDC, in recent hearings held concerning the subpoensed White House tape recordings. In his testimony, that he had spoken with President NIXON after the Special Prosecutor had filed the described memorandum. In these discussed with the President conversations, the tape recordings which had been requested by the WSP. was requested to identify the occasion(s) on which he and President NIXON discussed the subpoenaed White House tapes after receipt of both the noted subpoena and memorandum. was unable to specifically identify those occasions during which he and President NIXON discussed the subnocenaed White House tapes during the summer of 1973. conceded that it is possible that he discussed the subpoensed material with the President on specific occasions(s) following the issuance of the subpoena and the filing of the memorandum in support of the subpoena. These discussions may have occurred on one or more than one occasion, was unable to connect the discussion(s) with any specific incident. The general content of with the President concerned how many tames were subpoensed by the WSP and which tapes were covered by the subpoena. It is possible and probable that referred. to the subpoens before advising the President of the number and nature of conversations covered by the subpoena. Yet, recalled that it was much after his initial conversations with the President in which the subpoensed material was discussed, that the President exhibited interest in the actual identity of the specific conversations covered by the subpoens.

| The interviewing agents noted that testimony was received by Judge SIRICA to the effect that had advised the President that the WSP had subpoensed the tape of the President's conversation with on June 20, 1972, inasmuch as had indicated to the Senate Watergate Committee that the conversation dealt with the Watergate. At the request of the interviewing agent, provided the following: |

The interviewing agents noted that the described subpoens also requested the production of a tape recording of a conversation between the President and which occurred on June 20, 1972. In the event that the President had also ouestioned the request of the WSP for this conversation, was asked to identify the date or time at which the question had been posed by the President response to the Fresident. He subsequently provided the following information: At some point in time, probably in September or October, 1973, the President probably asked why on June 20, 1972, had his conversation with been requested by the WSP. noted that the subpoena, described above, has nine individual paragraphs. A review of this subboena initially indicated to EUZHARDT that each paragraph dealt with one specific meeting of the President and a certain individual(s). Paragraph 1(a) of the subpoena called for the production of a tape recording of a meeting between the President, on June 20, 1972, which meeting occurred about noon on that taken blace at the specified time on that date in which President MIXON, had been present. After leaving the White furnished a copy of this calendar to both the Senate and has learned that the Special Prosecutor utilized this calendar to structure his request for tape recordings containing certain conversations b70 of the President, which are described in the noted subpoena. was not aware at the time the subpoena was issued that the Special Prosecutor was utilizing calendar to structure his request for material. However, daily logs of the President's activities on that date prepared by the White House do not coincide with calendar. Due to the way the subpoena is worded, believed that each paragraph of the subpoena dealt with a specific conversation. Paragraph 1(a) of the subpoena describes a meeting between the President and which occurred about noon on June 20, 1972. As Presidential logs do not indicate such a meeting took place at that time on that date, _____concluded that the Paragraph 1(a) of the subpoena covered only the President's which had occurred at that meeting with time according to the logs.

advised that review of the WSP Memorandum in Support clarified the Special Prosecutor's request for material as stated in the noted subpoena. However, did not review the Special Prosecutor's Memorandum in Support in depth until about November 14, 1973, when he initiated his attempt to compile an Index and Analysis of the subpoenaed tape recordings.

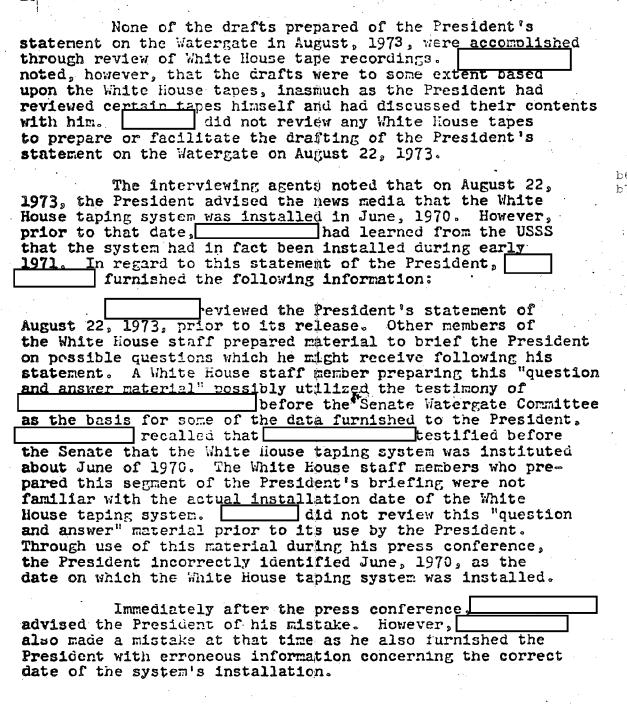

The interviewing agents moted that a "White Paper" had been prepared by members of the White House staff in August, 1973, which dealt with a number of events related to the Watergate investigation. was asked to describe his knowledge of that "White Paper". He furnished the following information:

On August 22, 1973, President NIXON issued a statement on the Watergate. Prior to that event, much discussion occurred among the White House staff relative to the form that the President's statement should take. ______ recalled approximately fifteen different formats were considered for the statement; for example, a first person statement or a third person statement, or a statement of the President's position issued by White House Counsel, etc.

The President's statement had primarily concerned the Watergate matter. Thus, it dealt but was not limited to the President's relations which A number of the White House staff wrote drafts of a statement for the President's consideration. These drafts were based upon each staff member's knowledge of the incidents and issues involved.

recalled provoring one or two drafts of this statement. Decade his draft upon his personal knowledge of the Vatergate investingation. This knowledge was derived from testimony recalled by the Senate Vatergate Committee; from his own conventions with the President on the Vatergate; from his introvvews with various individuals who participated in other vaterable related events; and from various memorandums and desimpents which were available to him, such as the memorandum presented by Attorney General RICHARD KLEINDIENST and Assistant Attorney General HENRY PETERSEN to the President on Applil 15, 1973.

SIMS received the same information from one of his agent personnel. This agent had examined the White House tapes in the custody of the USSS at that time and had incorrectly determined that the White House taping system was installed; in the Cabinet Room of the White House on May 14, 1971. recalled that he received this information Lon or about July 18, 1973, when the transfer of the White House tapes was made from the USSS to the custody of the President. notified the President of his incorrect use of the June, 1970, installation data immediately following the President's press conference on August 22, 1973. The Press Office was also advised of the President's mistake and a correction was made to the President's statement either that might or the following morning, which reflected SIMS. In hovember, 1973, possibly on Hovember 30, 1973, Lemmed that the dates of the installation which he had furnished to the President were partially incorrect as the Unbinat Room taping system was actually installed in February or Harch, 1971, rather than on Hay 14, 1971. Learned of his mistake as the result of an inventory of certain unite House tape recordings which was conducted in conjunction with receipt of a subpoena in the "Milk Case". It that time, the Press Office was notified of mistake and a second correction was made.

KELLEY, USSS, SA prepared a detailed memorandum, dated December 6, 1973, for the Inspecton Division, USSS, which sets forth his knowledge of, and participation in the taping of Presidential conversations at the White House complex, WDC and at Camp David. The purpose of this memo was to provide the USSS with a complete history of its involvement with White House tapes and the system utilized to produce those tapes. With the exception of schematic designs of the tape recording system (prepared by Supervisory Security Specialist (SSS) notes which show the dates of the system's installation and access granted by the USSS to White House personnel to tape recordings of Presidential conversations, information in the memo which predates July 18, 1973, is based primarily personal recollection. provided the interviewing Agents with a copy of the described memo. He suggested that the memo would provide a basic summary of his knowledge of the USSS participation and involvement in the recording and maintenance of Presidential conversations. He also offered to attempt to provide any additional information which might be desired by the interviewing Agents.

[asked that we meet in his office the following morning at approximately 7:30 a.m., and we would leave for court about 9 or 9:30 a.m. "On 11/1/73, just prior to meeting with SSS |and SSS|__ discussing SSS examination of an actual timer on the night of 10/31/73. The discussion refreshed their memory that the timer had to be set for six days instead of seven, which meant that Saturday/Sunday was considered as the 6th day in view of the history of inactivity in that office on those days. The previous day they had recalled that the timer changed each night between 11 and 12 midnight. I requested oxdot to obtain one of the timers, although it had been re-set and used elsewhere since being removed from the White House taping system. SSS obtained one, and he and SSS proceeded to attempt to determine exactly how the time was set and why. Because of no records being available except those made at the time the system was removed, all recollection of when the timer was initially installed, how it was set or re-set, and why, was a matter of memory since 1971. Although the matter was partially clarified, it was still confused to a degree.

She was acquainted with the facts that the investigation may disclose information relating to possible violations of laws over which the FBI had jurisdiction such as Perjury, Obstruction of Justice, Destruction of Government Property, and Furnishing False Information in Connection with an Official Investigation.

She was advised that in connection with the interview, there may be questions asked by the Agents which she might feel for some reason or other she should not provide an answer. | | was asked if he could explain why the recording system for the President's EOB Office ran out of tape on April 15, 1973, and, accordingly, the President's meeting with on that day was not recorded. |
| | advised it was his policy to check the equipment on Friday evening before departing work, and to determine whether sufficient tape was in the recorder to handle the normal demands for a weekend. His determination as to whether to install a new reel of tape was based upon his judgment in light of demand on previous weekends. He said that the President usually used his EOB office to prepare speeches during the work week and rarely used that space on weekends. Pointed out that the tape on this recording machine was capable of operating for six hours continual operation, and if the President had utilized that office for more than six hours on |
| | a weekend then the tape would have run out. said that this recorder was also actuated by conversation or other sound in the room and would continue to run as long as the sound continued. said that the computer log had been reviewed for the weekend of April 15, 1973, for Room 175½ where the recording equipment for the President's Executive Office Building Office was located and this log showed no entries into Room 175½. |
| | said that when a tape neared completion on the recorder a conversation being taped would tail off because of lack of tension on the tape, but that the voice would be recorded up to the last couple of inches on the tape. He could not explain how a space of eight to ten feet at the end of a tape could be blank since the recorder would only operate if sound of some kind were being recorded. If the sound ceased, the recorder would shut off in a very short time, and only a few inches of tape would be blank. |

It was his impression that there was no intention that any of the tapes would ever be removed from the room in which they were being stored and that the tapes were being maintained for future historical purposes.

He then wrote his b6 name across the flap of the envelope and then placed transb7C 5076.0. parent tape over the flap and his signature. He then placed this envelope edvised that when told him that he would be in charge of maintaining eustody of the tapes, he decided that he would privately keep notes and records of anything having to do with the tapes, the storage room contains the tanes, or any transaction relating to the tapes. stated that he was not told by anyone to maintain such records, but that he just did it to be sure that he would be able to give accurate information should such be requested in the future. stated that even though he did not personally inventory all of the tapes at the time he signed a receipt for them on July 18, 1973, he subsequently undertook a personal inventory of every single tape in the storage room. He stated that he initiated this inventory on January 21, 1974, and completed it on January 26, 1974. stated that he removed the brown paper from each of the groups of tapes and checked each tape box against the dates of the tanas listed on the inventory furnished to him by on July 18, 1973. stated that from his personal inventory, he determined that a tape existed to correspond with each of the entries made on the USSS inventory of July 18, 1973. He did note that a couple of numbers were transposed, i.e., the Cabinet Room tape for May 12, 1971, was incorrectly listed as May 21, 1971. He was then asked if, due to his position and responsibility, he had listened to any tape prior to June of 1973 and he replied that he did not. He stated that he was curious, but it was his preference not to listen to them. The next occasion he had anything to do with tapes was on June 4, 1973, when he was visited by who furnished him a list of tapes and at the same time informed that the President wished to review them. again called the TSD of USSS and furnished them a list of the requested tapes and also requested one or possibly

After obtaining the tapes from the Secret Service, he began to "cue" one up. He was asked how he was able to find the conversation that the President wished to hear and he stated at the time he received the tapes and the tape recorders, he also obtained from the Staff Secretary the abstracts of the President's logs and perhaps even summaries of the Presidential diaries. By using the Sony tape recorder he was able to advance the tape to a certain portion or to a portion of the tape where he was able to identify persons on the recording itself. He would then compare the diary with the tape and either move forward or backward to the actual conversation that the President wished to hear. When he had found the first conversation, the first conversation already nounted on the recorder, placed the machine with the tape on it in a briefcase and carried it over to the President's Office for him to listen to.

WFO 74-290 was asked if there was any conversation between himself and the President when he first brought over the recorder and he stated to the best of his recollection, the conversation went as follows: When he delivered the recorder with the first tape on it, the President asked him how many tapes he had and recalls telling the President he had at least two or The President then told that he had prepared a list and that should see knew what conversations he, the President, wanted to listen It was understanding that the President was going to listen to all of the conversations that took place between himself and He stated this review possibly came about making a statement to the effect that during the Watergate investigation he may have met. with the President on at least 30 to 40 occasions. kent to to obtain the list. He stated his hypothesis for the log and in his recollection is that after the President gave the okay for to review the tapes, he gave one half of the tapes that he had with- |

He may have put the first batch in the desk and after ordering the second batch the next day, turned over that batch to thinking that he had given one half the original withdrawal. He was asked if he had given any logs which would enable to examine the tapes, and he replied that he could not remember. | Going back to the tape review session of June 4, 1973, between the President and was asked what he had done with the tapes after the President had completed his review on June 4, 1973 stated that although it was not the best type of security, he had maintained control of the tapes and placed then in a closet in his office. The following day these tapes were returned to the TSD, along with the recorders. |

He stated he understood that there was a definite discrepancy in the time that it took the White House car to travel from WDC to Camp David and the time spent reviewing the first tape before a call was placed back to the White House. |
| , | stated when he originally testified in court that the car in which he and were riding to Camp David arrived at approximately 10:00 or shortly after 10:00 a.m. This time was actually an estimation on his part and it was based on the 50 mile an hour speed limits. has subsequently learned that the 50 mile an hour speed limits were not in effect in September, 1973, and therefore the travel time from WDC to Camp David would have been about 40 minutes shorter than what he had originally estimated. He now states that the arrival of him and at Camp David would perhaps have been closer to 9:30 a.m. instead of 10:00 a.m. |
| | Upon arrival at the cabin at Camp David, he took one of the recorders from the suitease and placed it on a table in the back room of the cabin. He then looked at the subpoena and determined that the first tape called for was the June 20, 1972, conversation between "RICHARD NIXON, from 10:30 a.m. to noon from the attache case and placed it on the recorder. He noted that the subpoena called for a conversation which took place in the EOB. He then, with the aid of the Presidential logs, began "cueing up" the tape to find the conversation. He said it was not difficult to locate the portion of the conversation and after skipping through the tape on several parts, he determined that was not present at this meeting. He came to a portion of the tape where left and then came in. At this point he was asked if he listened to any of the conversation between and the President |
